

Wilkerson Assessed 15-Year Prison Term

BY TROY MARTIN
Emmett Leon Wilkerson, 31 years old, 4200 Washington, Amarillo, was assessed 15 years in prison Monday after being found guilty of assault with intent to murder with malice.

Wilkerson was found guilty by a jury of ten men and two women after 1 hour and 55 minutes of deliberation. Punishment was imposed by 181st District Judge Don Dean.

Wilkerson was charged with the shooting of his father-in-law, Louis Monroe Johnson, 58, during the early morning hours of Sept. 11 at the Johnson home at 4624 Western.

Johnson was the key witness for the state while Wilkerson was the only witness presented by the defense.

Both men told a story of an early morning shoot out at the Johnson home but their stories differed as to events which were climaxed by the shooting.

It narrowed down to a tale of domestic difficulties between Wilkerson and his wife, Sandra, and the involvement of the Johnsons in their daughter's troubles.

Johnson was the first witness in the case. He said Wilkerson and the Johnsons' daughter, Sandra, came to the Johnson home about 2:30 o'clock the morning of the shooting.

He said he answered the door himself and found his daughter and son-in-law. He testified that Wilkerson said he wanted to talk to the Johnsons but that Mrs. Johnson wasn't feeling well and didn't want to get up.

"She had better get up," Johnson quoted Wilkerson as having said in a loud voice.

He testified that he, Sandra, and Wilkerson then went through a hall to a bedroom where Mrs. Johnson was in bed.

"I'm going to kill you Louis," he quoted Wilkerson as having said while producing a small pistol.

"Don't shoot me, Leon," he said he pleaded with his son-in-law. He said Wilkerson then shot him in the stomach at close range and then pointed the pistol at Mrs. Johnson who was then sitting up in bed.

Johnson said the gun Wilkerson was using must have jammed because it did not fire. He said he reached into a night stand drawer nearby and produced his own gun firing at Wilkerson. He testified that Wilkerson was struck by a bullet and backed out of the room.

Mrs. Wilkerson and Mrs. Johnson ran to a neighbor's house and called police, he declared.

He said he pursued Wilkerson into a bathroom and shot him again then as Wilkerson fell to the floor fired his sixth bullet emptying his gun.

He told the jury he then ran outside and took the spent cartridges from his .22 caliber revolver and put them into a rose box.

About that time Randall County Deputy Sheriff Dan Carter drove up to the Johnson home.

Johnson denied that he ever had previous difficulty with his son-in-law although Deputy Carter had been summoned to the home about two weeks before when the Johnsons had advance notice that Wilkerson was going to pay them a visit.

He told the jury that he and Mrs. Johnson offered their daughter a sanctuary when "he (Wilkerson) was drinking and was mean to her."

Johnson said he had never threatened the defendant.

Mrs. Johnson told substantially the same story as her husband about the shooting. She revealed that she had been advising her daughter "for about four years" to divorce Wilkerson. Testimony brought out that Wilkerson and his wife have been married 11 years and have three small children.

Until his arrest Wilkerson had been employed as a cook.

Testimony also revealed that Mrs. Wilkerson has not filed for a divorce after the shooting. Neither Mrs. Wilkerson or the Wilkerson children were in the court room.

Deputy Dan Carter told the jury of arriving at the Johnson home just ahead of two Amarillo policemen the morning of the shooting. The officers took the gun from Johnson and then went on into the house.

They found the bathroom door closed and ordered Wilkerson to throw his gun out.

"I can't," he was quoted as having replied.

The officers finally pushed the door open and again ordered the defendant to throw his gun out.

"I can't," he replied a second time.

He was lying on the bathroom floor smoking a cigarette. He told the officers he had tossed the gun out the bathroom window but shortly later told them he had put it into a drawer in the bathroom. It was there the officers found a small .25 caliber pistol introduced into evidence as the gun used in shooting Johnson.

The officers called an ambulance. Wilkerson had been shot in the temple and the arm.

After brief testimony from Amarillo Police Officer Julian Gibson, the state rested its case at 1:55 o'clock.

Wilkerson then took the stand in his own behalf and told a story of growing domestic difficulties and continuous interference by his in-laws.

He said his wife's parents were trying to persuade his wife not to accompany him to Virginia, a move he had contemplated about Sept. 16. He also said his father-in-law had threatened him with bodily harm.

"He said if I didn't get out of town I was going to get shot," Wilkerson testified.

He declared that he went to the Johnson home during the early morning hours because that was the only time he could go.

"I work seven days a week," he asserted.

He told a different story about the shooting than that related by the Johnsons.

He said he went to the Johnson home to try to persuade them to quit interfering in his marriage. When he and his wife arrived they found Mrs. Johnson indisposed and went on into the bedroom with Johnson.

Wilkerson testified that he had been aware that Johnson kept a .22 caliber pistol in a night stand drawer by the bed.

"Get on out of here," he quoted Johnson as having

Court Refuses To Pay Sheriff's Dept. Bill

County Judge Carroll Brown Monday cast the tie breaking vote in a commissioners court refusal to pay for a piece of equipment purchased during the summer by the county sheriff's department.

Sheriff L.S. "Slim" Johnston said a compressor on the air conditioning unit servicing the portion of the court house in which the sheriff's office is located went out.

The compressor was under warranty but the people responsible for replacing it were tardy in doing so. That section of the court house was without air conditioning for eight weeks.

Sheriff Johnston bought a compressor for about $500.

In the meantime, the warranty has been made good and two compressors are on hand. Johnston submitted the bill for the compressor he purchased.

Commissioners voted two to two on the question Monday after having put the decision off for the past two weeks.

Commissioners Glenn Dowlen and Clarence Beckman voted to pay the bill. Commissioners Bill Butler and Jim Fletcher voted to refuse it. Judge Brown voted with Butler and Fletcher.

Beckman observed in the discussion before the vote that the new court house annex in which the county judge's office, the district attorney's office, county

Bufs To Contest Falcons Saturday

West Texas State University's Buffaloes, their eyes set on rebounding from their first shutout in 53 games, travel to Bowling Green, Ohio for a Saturday afternoon game against Bowling Green University.

Western Michigan's big and physical Broncos blanked the Buffaloes, 20-0, Saturday afternoon in Buffalo Bowl. It was the first shutout handed to a Joe Kerbel coached football team since a 40-0 beating by New Mexico State in the 1964 season.

Kerbel's Buffaloes will finish the season without the services of 218-pound junior fullback Rameese Faleafine, presently the club's second leading rusher.

Faleafine injured his left knee against Western Michigan and underwent an operation Sunday morning. He had carried the ball 131 times for 506 net yards this season and scored six touchdowns.

"We are sad at the loss of Ram for the year, but we are also pleased that the operation appears to have been highly successful," said Kerbel.

The Buffaloes will carry a 5-3 record into Saturday's clash with Bowling Green, which is suffering through its first losing season since 1954. Bowling Green's Falcons have a 2-5-1 record and are closing their season with Saturday's game.

Rocky Thompson rushed for 74 net yards Saturday and now has 725 yards for the season. He also leads the Buffaloes in scoring with 66 points.

Quarterback Ed Holwig and split end Daryl Wynn entered West Texas State's career leaders in their departments Saturday. Holwig hit on 19 of 37 passes to increase his season's total of 75 completions. That ties the 6-4, 215-pound sophomore from Highspire, Pa., with Bobby Lane for sixth place among career leaders in passing completions. Lane, who graduated in 1952, had 75 completions in 207 attempts. Royce Hillman, a 1956 graduate, had 97 career completions for fifth place, so Holwig has a shot in the final two games of taking over that slot.

Wynn caught four passes Saturday for 39 yards and now has 21 receptions for the season and 36 for a career. The 6-4 junior from Follett moved into the eighth place among the

The advance gifts drive for the Boy Scout fund has gone over the top.

Joe Gidden, in charge of that portion of the fund campaign, said the advance gifts now comes to $2,634. The goal for advance gifts was $2,500.

Carey Magness, chairman for the entire campaign, said the regular fund drive has brought in $1,424.65. He had hoped that the campaign would net $5,000.

Magness said there still is a possibility that the whole campaign will be over subscribed since only two majors in the drive have made complete reports while three of the leaders have yet to turn in full reports.

"I would like to urge all workers to get their cards in to their respective majors as soon as possible," Magness said this week. "We would like to have the report completed."

Fire Destroys Overton Barn

Fire destroyed a barn and several pieces of equipment in it early Tuesday morning on the Carl Overton place 7 miles northeast of Canyon.

Fire Captain Joe Rice said the barn and its contents were a total loss. He said the barn contained a car, two pickups, two motorcycles and some shoe equipment.

"I don't know what the monetary damage was but it was considerable," Rice declared.

He said the cause of the fire was not determined.

Many Improvements Seen For Facility

BY SAM ALLRED
The Canyon Airport has been sold, and if present plans of the new owner see reality the small air facility may move Randall County into a competitive position in the air age.

Jim Wardell, president of International Airlines, purchased the airport Wednesday from Chuck Allen of Hereford on an outright cash basis.

"We will offer full line maintenance through multi-engine aircraft, aircraft sales and charters and full flight instructions," Wardell said.

The airport will be managed by H.L. Stanley and Daryl Locker, both of whom the new owner emphasized know the airplane business.

"Stanley has about six degrees in aircraft maintenance courses, is licensed in 20 different kinds of aircraft and is designated an FAA check pilot," Wardell said. "In addition, he is a Gold Seal instructor and will teach a ground school with personal innovations based on years of experience."

The new owner said Stanley will teach flying "through aerobatics and the Air Transport Ratings."

"We are hoping that in the near future West Texas State University students can take advantage of the experience Stanley has accumulated," he said. "We are also hopeful that the flying program for students can be accredited."

Wardell said that Locker would act as Stanley's assistant and is a qualified A&P mechanic.

"Both of these gentlemen are well qualified to design a maintenance program for the individual aircraft," he said. "They are both airline oriented and emphasize programs to ensure preventive maintenance."

The airport currently has

Eagles To Meet Mule Team Friday

Canyon's Eagles travel to Muleshoe Friday night for an encounter with the Muleshoe Mules—the fourth conference game of the Eagle season.

Game time will be 7:30 at Muleshoe.

The Eagles sport a 2-1 conference record and will be riding the crest of a victory over the Perryton Rangers. The Eagles won that contest 9-7 on a field goal by Eddie McBride in the closing seconds of the game.

Muleshoe lost to Dumas 27-8 and to Levelland 28-6 but defeated Tulia 41-14.

The Mules deploy from a wishbone T formation.

Bobby Hayes, Mule half-back, is the leading scorer in the district with 52 points to his credit this season. He is fast and a strong runner.

Mike Riley, 170-pound junior quarterback, is an excellent passer and a good field general. He likes to throw to Jack Allison, Mule split end.

Gold Star 4-Hers To District Meet

Glenda Hollenstein, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anton Hollenstein and Billy Dugan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Dugan will attend the District I Gold Star Banquet at 6:00 p.m. at the YWCA in Amarillo Saturday night.

The banquet will honor Gold Star recipients from 22 counties, their parents, and County Agents. The banquet is sponsored by the four Rural Electric Cooperatives located in District I.

The two CHS juniors received the Gold Star award at the Randall County 4-H Award Banquet held last Saturday night.

Miss Hollenstein was awarded the honor because of her participation in the Junior Livestock Show, the district contest skit, and her 8 years in 4-H work. Miss Hollenstein has received several clothing and calf awards.

She is reporter for the Randall 4-H and the Junior Leaders organizations. At CHS Miss Hollenstein is a member of the FTA, and the National Honor Society.

Dugan, also a junior at Canyon High School, was presented the top 4-H award based on his participation in junior leadership programs. He has received awards in field crops, safety, tractor, riflery, gardening, bees, poultry, and horses.

Dugan has also been the recipient of the novice Showmanship Award at the Junior Livestock Show. He is a member of the Future Farmers of America and works in the CHS Vocational-Ag department. He is employed by the Elliott Feed Yards.

Sondra McNaughton, Pampa freshman, relaxes in the stacks with a favorite book. The pretty coed is a timely reminder, since the Library Board's used book sale is scheduled north of the city library Saturday from 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Sondra is a secondary education major and a pledge of Alpha Delta Pi.

FROM THE

CANYON RIM

Randall County Republicans took a terrible shellacking in the election last week.

There are a lot of factors involved and I'd like to take a look at a few here. I don't think political ideology had much to do with it because Republicans George Bush and Paul Eggers, running for Senator and governor respectively, carried the county handily.

County Judge Carroll Brown was beaten in Randall County in his bid to replace Judge Don Dean by a margin of almost two to one.

I think the single biggest reason for his smashing defeat was the fact that he switched parties to run for district judge as a Republican two months after seeking the appointment from Governor Preston Smith as a Democrat.

Judge Brown managed to anger — many times needlessly — a great number of the people with whom he had to deal as county judge.

It is no secret in the court house that Judge Brown and Commissioner Bill Butler have a feud of long standing going with popular Sheriff L.S. "Slim" Johnston. This rift was deepened Monday when Butler voted against paying a bill submitted by Sheriff Johnston for an air-conditioner part for the sheriff's department wing of the court house and Judge Brown cast the tie-breaking vote.

Judge Brown's absenteeism from his Canyon court house office drew him some criticism and undoubtedly cost him some votes.

Judge Brown's position on matters affecting the Canyon community cost him dearly in the south part of the county where he lost boxes one through seven by an almost unbelievable margin of nearly four to one.

Judge Dean received 1,844 votes from these seven boxes while Brown received only 497.

These facts, coupled with the fact that Judge Dean hadn't made any mistakes in the short time he was on the bench before election, that he campaigned hard and had made a good judge, made for some mighty tough sledding for Judge Brown.

Joseph "Buddy" Schley simply came on too strong for the voters. His advertising and personal appearances created sympathy for his opponent, Woody Pond, something a seasoned politician avoids like the plague.

He referred to Pond as a "good old boy" but unqualified for the job of county judge. Pond took Schley's own epithet and adopted it as a campaign slogan.

He was even introduced at political rallies as "that good old boy running for Randall County judge."

I think the voters felt that Schley advertising somehow looked down the nose at them. They got even by voting for Schley's opponent.

Rhett Plank ran an excellent campaign. It was low key but persistent and he ran a good race for a lad on the first time out against a veteran.

He polled over 6,000 votes and will be a factor with which to be reckoned in the future.

His opponent, George Dowlen, didn't campaign much but he didn't need to. All he had to do was keep quiet and stand on his record of convictions for the past several months and let them elect him. That is what he did.

The people of Massachusetts may have forgiven Edward Kennedy for his role in the drowning death of Mary Jo Kopechne on Chappaquiddick a little more than a year ago but the people of Dukes County in which the incident took place still look upon the senator with a jaundiced eye.

Colmer Smith of the Martha's Vineyard Gazette wrote a special story for The Canyon News at the time of the incident saying the people of Edgarton felt cheated over the way the Kennedy affair was handled.

Apparently they still do. In 1964 Kennedy carried the county with 61 percent of the vote. Last Tuesday, although he carried his state with 74 percent, he lost Dukes County to Republican Josiah Spaulding polling only 46 percent.

Frank Castleberry who runs the Activities Center at West Texas State University said Julian Bond was fourth choice on a list of speakers used by the Student Activities Council.

He said John Kenneth Galbraith, Spiro Agnew and John Lindsay in that order preceded the young Negro legislator from Georgia. All the others sent regrets. Bond, fourth to be asked, accepted.

Bond's speech came rather high at $2,000. The two preceding speakers, Richard Vasquez and Rev. Lester Kinsolving, cost $275 each.

Bond's speech was essentially racist in tone though he pretends to abhor racism. Without racism Bond's appeal would fade. He must have it to survive as a politician. Bond now has widened his appeal to include Chicanos and even Indians.

If Bond had intended to be fair instead of political he might have pointed out that although the Negro was brought to these shores in slavery this country fought a bloody civil war that he might have freedom...

Although the Negro has been subjected to discrimination his lot is better in this country today than anywhere else on the face of the earth.

That racial discrimination is not a disease peculiar to white men but is global in aspect. Note the persecution of the Biafrans in Nigeria. Note the persecution of the Jews by the Arabs. The list could stretch on and on.

Bond might also have said that compassionate white men have spearheaded most of the advancement made by the black race not only here but all over the world.

He could have condemned us where we have fallen short but he should have given us credit also for the good we have accomplished.

He might also have said things are bad but they are getting better and together there is hope.

Bond did not do this. He came here sowing seeds of discord for without discord Julian Bond's future would not be nearly so bright.

After all is said and done Bond is an appealing orator to those who follow him. There will be no utopia. Discord is in the future and so is Julian Bond.

Our World

BY ANN BROWN

According to the merchants, thieves are doing their Christmas shoplifting early this year. The average person shrugs off this information with gratitude that he is not a merchant. Before he gets too grateful he should be aware that merchants add about 15% to their prices to compensate for thievery. So the honest shopper actually pays for the shoplifting—not the merchant. And that 15% is just a small part of Americans' involuntary contribution to thieves.

One of the big businesses in the U.S. is car stealing. In Baltimore, beginning Nov. 15, a motorist who leaves the keys in his car will be issued a traffic summons and be subject to a fine of $100. This is typical of the modern attitude toward thieves: Forget the thief; direct retribution toward the victim.

If this attitude had prevailed in the early west, the area between the Mississippi and the Pacific would still be a wilderness. The pioneers did not force a man to insure and guard his horse; they hanged the horse thief.

The tragic death of the 17-year-old boy of Springlake, who was killed by his own shotgun, can be charged to thieves. If our homes were safe from intruders, the boy would have felt no need to sleep with a gun within his reach.

The owners of the dance hall in France where 145 young people burned to death have been castigated for negligence because all exits were locked and barred. But not a word of condemnation for the thieves who forced the owners to bar the exits.

Rioters and looters are consistently excused for their larcenous conduct, while their victims are condemned for possessing that which inspired envy in the hearts of the thieves, and the police are condemned for "interfering."

All the wars since the dawn of mankind have been generated by someone's desire to steal. Whether gold, ground, or glory comprised the coveted spoil, it has always been man's greed for the possessions of another that sent him on the war-path.

Our modern doves and peaceniks are simply a gross exaggeration of the general attitude. They loudly denounce the victims who are merely trying to defend their lives and their property, but not a word of condemnation for the robbers who start the wars, and the thieves who keep them going.

Never in history has a nation dealt so generously with its enemies as has the U.S. At the close of World War II, as the sole custodian of the atom bomb, the U.S. could have conquered the world. Rather than take advantage of that unique situation, our great nation went in and bound up the wounds of friend and foe alike, and helped them get back on their feet. We extended aid to almost every nation on earth. In a sincere effort to help our neighbors come up to the American standard of living, we have almost beggared ourselves.

What thanks have we received for our generosity? A generation later, with war clouds rumbling all over the world, our flag is despised at home and abroad. The thieving aggressors are ignored, but the U.S. is censured for attempting to defend the hapless victims.

Communism is simply thievery on a national scale, with one man granted the legal access to the earnings of another. The guaranteed income plan is just another name for communism. Making stealing legal does not make it right. The eighth commandment makes property rights sacred.

If Americans do not take a stand against thievery before it is approved on the national level, the "land of the free" will be soon gone. First we need to teach our children honesty by precept and example. The honest people should stop ignoring shoplifters and other thieves, and report them to the proper authorities.

History proves that periods of freedom are rare. They have existed only when free citizens united to defend their rights against all enemies — foreign and domestic.

Stompers To Play Tulsa U.

West Texas State University's freshman football team will meet the University of Tulsa freshmen at 2 p.m. Thursday Nov. 19, in Buffalo Bowl.

The game was arranged this week by the athletic departments of the two schools.

West Texas had a game scheduled earlier with Wichita State's freshmen, but that game was cancelled when Wichita's freshmen were moved to the varsity after the plane tragedy earlier this fall. Tulsa was also to have played the Wichita freshmen.

This is the only freshman game of the year for the Buffaloes. The freshman team had an intrasquad game several weeks ago.

Admission is $3 for adults and $1 for high school or college students, other than those attending WTSU. West Texas students will be admitted with their activity card.

Jimmy Hill Will Head 1971 Posse

The Randall County Sheriff's Posse elected Jimmy Hill club president for 1971 at last week's meeting.

Other officers elected included: vice president, Leon Cox; secretary, Autry Davis; treasurer, Harley Burris; parade marshal, Archie Davis; assistant parade marshal, Leroy Gross; and director of the junior deputies, Wayne Wallace.

Miss Linda Horton was selected Randall County Sheriff's Posse Queen.

The new officers will be installed January 9 at the annual club banquet.

WT Students Receive Welch Scholarships

Two senior students from West Texas State University have received undergraduate scholarships from the Robert A. Welch Foundation of Houston.

Howard Gidden, a biomedical science major from Canyon, and Pat Riley, a mathematics major from Amarillo, were selected to receive the $50 a month scholarship which is awarded by Dr. Gene Crowder, chairman of the WTSU chemistry department.

Gidden is currently working in organic chemistry research with Dr. James Woodyard, assistant professor of chemistry. Last summer, research was undertaken at M.D. Anderson Hospital in Houston. Dr. Marion Guidry has employed Gidden for research on projects financed by the Welch Foundation.

Cited as Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities last year, Gidden is a prospective May graduate of WTSU.

Riley is involved with projects concerning vibration frequencies of molecules as well as writing computer programs for Crowder.

Also a May candidate for graduation, Riley was under the same fellowship this past summer.

Foods For Health Needs Is November Program Topic

"Foods For Special Health Needs" is the topic for the seven Home Demonstration Clubs during the month of November.

Mrs. Becky Hall, County Home Demonstration Agent, gave the initial instruction to club representatives at a recent meeting.

She explained the foods needed daily for health and fitness.

"There's a magic formula to help us remember how many servings we need daily from each food group," she said.

"For adults the formula is 2-4-2-4, for teenagers it is 4-4-2-4, and for children it is 3-4-2-4," Mrs. Hall pointed out.

The formula is interpreted as: the number of servings needed daily from the milk group, the vegetable-fruit group, the meat group, and the bread and cereal group.

"A serving of milk is an 8 ounce cup; cheese and ice cream may replace part of the milk. The amount of either, it will take to replace a given amount of milk is figured on the basis of calcium content," she stated, noting that a one-inch cube of cheddar cheese equals one half cup of milk. One half cup cottage cheese equals one third cup milk, and one half cup of ice cream equals one fourth cup of milk.

"Choose four or more servings of fruit and vegetables every day," Mrs. Hall reminded the group. "Count as one serving: one half cup vegetable or fruit or portion as ordinarily served, such as one medium apple, orange or potato."

"Include one good source of Vitamin C or two servings of a fair source. One serving, at least every other day of a good source of vitamin A. The dark green and deep yellow vegetables and a few fruits are the best sources of Vitamin A."

Two servings of meat are recommended daily to furnish protein for growth and repair of the body. Count as a serving: 2 to 3 ounces of lean cooked meat, poultry, or fish, without bone, or substitute two eggs, 1 cup cooked dry beans, dry peas, lentils, or four tablespoons of peanut butter.

"The last number in the formula is 4, for 4 servings of bread or cereal," she continued. "Count as one serving: 1 slice of bread, 1 ounce ready to eat cereal, 1/2 to 3/4 cup cooked cereal, cornmeal, grits, macaroni, noodles, rice, or spaghetti."

"To round out meals and meet energy needs, almost everyone will use some foods not specified in the four food groups. Such foods include sugars, butter, margarine, other fats and vegetable oil," she continued.

"In following the formula, you select the main part of your diet from four broad food groups. To this you add other food groups as needed to make your meals more appealing and satisfying."

Mrs. Hall noted that the Home Demonstration office in the Court House has a reference list of material available for special dietary needs such as: diabetics, allergy foods, low sodium diets and others that are available to the public upon request.

"These materials should only be used after consulting a physician," she pointed out.

Members of the Canyon High School Future Homemakers of America made apple favors into turkeys and delivered them to the La Casa Convalescent Home Tuesday. Pictured are Diana Hill, Billie Gordon, Mary Beth Ward, and Claire Daugherty.

WT Debaters Win Third

The West Texas State University debate team won third place, beating 53 other teams, in the junior division of the University of New Mexico Lobo Forensic Tournament recently.

Mike Koenig and Charles Crow, WTSU freshmen from Amarillo Caprock High School, won their way to the quarter-final round with six wins and no losses. They defeated the University of Arizona in the quarter-finals 3-0, advancing to the semi-finals where they lost to Wichita State University. The 53 teams represented 30 colleges and universities from seven states.

Koenig is the son of Mrs. LaQueta Koenig, 4915 Matarador Trail, Amarillo, and Crow is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elbert W. Crow, 3110 South Grand, Amarillo. Both students are government majors.

Others attending the tournament from West Texas State were Dan Kremer, sophomore, Amarillo Tascosa; Gary Patton, Panhandle freshman; Tyler Tindall, graduate assistant; and Mr. Guy Yates, director of forensics.

golf course. Team score was 315. Randall Burton scored 75; Mike Shadix, 75; Joe Ziegler, 78; and Joe Mullican, 87.

Borger was first with a team score of 301; Plainview second with 305 and Tascosa of Amarillo third with 87.

Dress History Is Program Topic

The Chi Upsilon chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met recently at the Canyon Community Center for a regular meeting and "Get Acquainted Party" for invited guests.
Miss Susan Booth gave the program entitled "The History of Dress." Miss Booth is an English major at WTSU. She was second runner-up for Miss WTSU and is a member of Delta Zeta sorority.

Miss Booth first traced the history of dress from cave men days and the wearing of animal skins and bone jewelry to the Egyptian costume with the jumper type for women. The Egyptians wore wigs, sandals, and had sets of cosmetics.
The Grecian costume was then given, noting that hair was worn long either straight or curled. The Roman fashion era was discussed and Miss Booth explained the Grecian draping of the semicircular cloth.

During the Middle Ages
women's dress was loosely fitted and layered. A head dress was usually worn and elaborate jewelry and furs were popular.
The Renaissance brought new innovations in fashion with the tight bodice and full skirts. Brimmed hats were worn under the skirt and great ladies had skirts 5 yards in circumference.
The French costume in the 1700s reduced everything in size except the sleeves, the coat skirts, and wigs. Powdered white wigs headed the fashion trend. Lots of lace became popular with the fashion designers.
Colonial costume in America began with practical, drab colored Puritan type costumes.
This changed about 1750 and powdered wigs became popular and there was a more tailored look on the women's fashion scene. The hour-glass figure was also popular; wool became the only "proper" cloth for clothes. The divided skirt for riding togs and tennis frocks came into being.
The morning-glory skirt set the fashion trend in the 1900-1920 era. In 1916 the "short" skirt, 6 inches above
the ankle, became popular.
In 1921 the "scant" skirt produced a scandal in the fashion era. The skirt came just below the knee. Bobbed hair and flapper dresses were the rage.
In the early 30s the "proper length" was 10 inches from the floor. The high neckline and wide shoulders were in style.
The 1940s brought nylon hose, slanted hats, halter tops, and skirts from 15 to 17 inches from the floor.
During the 1950s the off the face hats, the slim silhouette, the "sheath Parisian panel," the sun dresses and Gibson Girl blouses stole the fashion scene.
During Chi Upsilon's regular business session, Mrs.
Lewell Johnston presided.
The opening ritual was repeated in unison by the ten members present.
A thank you note from Mrs. Meade Michael was read to the group.
The chapter's volleyball tournament was discussed.
Available to the members were the Post-A-Notes, the four-year planners, and the Salads and Casseroles cookbooks.
Following the meeting a "Get Acquainted Party" was held for the chapter's invited guests.
Tables and nametags were decorated with the Beta Sigma Phi theme,
"Light Many Lamps."
The chapter's scrapbook and yearbook were on display at the social gathering.
Guests present at the party were: Mrs. G. C.
Booth, Susan Booth, Mrs.
Ronald Boehning, Mrs. Jim Thomas, Mrs. Harold Woolsey, Mrs. Jack Mims, Mrs.
Shirley Hurst, Mrs. Claiborn
Crain, Mrs. Melvin Tucek, and Mrs. Jack Keller.
Mrs. Booth, Mrs. Keller
and Mrs. Roy Reynolds won the door prizes.
Refreshments of chips,
dips, party sandwiches,
cookies, coffee and cokes
were served.
Mrs. George Stevens was hostess with Mrs. Barnett Ball as co-hostess. Mrs. Bob Costley was in charge of the program.
The next regular meeting will be held November 18 in the Speck Benham home.
Members are asked to take the written test for the review of the book of Beta Sigma Phi. The executive board will meet at 7:00 p.m. preceding the regular meeting.

Susan Booth, WTSU coed from Canyon, spoke to the members and invited guests of the Chi Upsilon chapter of Beta Sigma Phi at their recent Get Acquainted Party. Miss Booth discussed the "History of Dress" at the meeting.

Mud Flats Bring Big Bird Flight

Low water conditions at Buffalo Lake this year may help to contribute to a "real good flight" of ducks and geese, but the refuge manager said Monday it may also force the water fowl to move on.

Paul Ferguson, Buffalo Lake Refuge manager, said the severe low water level, which exposes mud flats, is attractive to the water fowl, but it could turn right around and drive them off.

"It could freeze up because it is so shallow and force the birds to move to some other areas," Ferguson said.

The refuge manager said there are currently about 10,000 Canadian Geese at the refuge and between 50 and 60,000 ducks. A more complete census will be taken later this week.

The water level at the refuge is the lowest that has ever been recorded, and may require record numbers of water fowl to keep the water open.

"In general, we should winter between 40 and 50,000 Canada geese and about a million or better ducks, although it is very difficult to say," Ferguson said.

"If the water begins to freeze it will take large numbers of the birds to keep the water open."

Although the migration started early this year, Ferguson said it would be the end of November before the peak level on ducks and geese is reached.

"We should get the mallards and late migrants by mid-December with the big bulk here by January," he said.

Pollution problems at the lake will probably not affect the "honkers" and "quackers" and may actually prove to be helpful in some cases.

"What we have sitting here now will not harm the ducks," Ferguson said. "Actually they thrive on some of the algae in there."

The refuge manager said his unit was testing the water monthly to determine the chloroform bacteria level and that it is "remaining low."

"It is well under the 200 parts per million, which is what it would take to endanger human life," he said.

Spanish Artist's Works Go On Display Sunday

BY SAM ALLRED
Luziano travels all over the world looking for that "distinctive" face to paint, but not for the usual artistic reasons; he wants to be a "witness to the evolution of time."

The noted Spanish artist is in Canyon for an exhibition of his work, which will begin Sunday at the Panhandle Plains Historical Museum. Through an interpreter, he explained the motivations behind the powerful quality of his paintings.

"As I travel from country to country I look for old houses and streets, personalized houses that time has given character," he said. "The small town where I was born disappeared to progress and perhaps it gives my paintings an unconscious melancholia."

The artist said that while "everyone else is trying to be the same, I want to be a witness to the evolution of time."

"I do not paint to paint beauty or to satisfy someone," he said. "I paint for personal enjoyment. I will not paint for the satisfaction of a client."

Born in the Basque city of San Sebastian, Luziano's family fled to Paris when he was a child to escape the Spanish Civil War. He smiled sadly when he recalled they had barely started new lives when it was again necessary to flee, this time to escape the Nazi occupation of France.

Luziano lived at the frontier between France and Germany for four years until "Franco asked the Spanish kids to return to Spain so I did so."

The artist became an apprentice in an iron factory, which produced such items as tools and swords, and began painting in the evenings.

"My folks told me I was wasting my time," he said. "Youth of the Basque were not interested in painting at that time. Work and soccer were the main goals."

A job painting sketches of tourists at a resort town provided the push Luziano needed to devote his full time to art.

"I made about $10 a day, a great fortune then," he said. "I had been storing ideas in my mind and with the money I earned in five years I returned to Paris."

After a semester of art school Luziano began feeling that school was "robbing me of my personal identity as an artist and leading me away from my ideas," so he returned to Madrid. He continues to spend about four months a year in France and speaks fluent French.

Having established a stable economic base, the painter began utilizing the ideas on art he had been thinking of for so many years.

"I did not want to paint what everyone else was painting," he said. "I do not think you can compare my style with any other painter because I am not painting the same things."

The quality he looks for in his subjects is present in the Panhandle, he said, in the weatherbeaten faces of cowboys and the proud faces of the Indians.

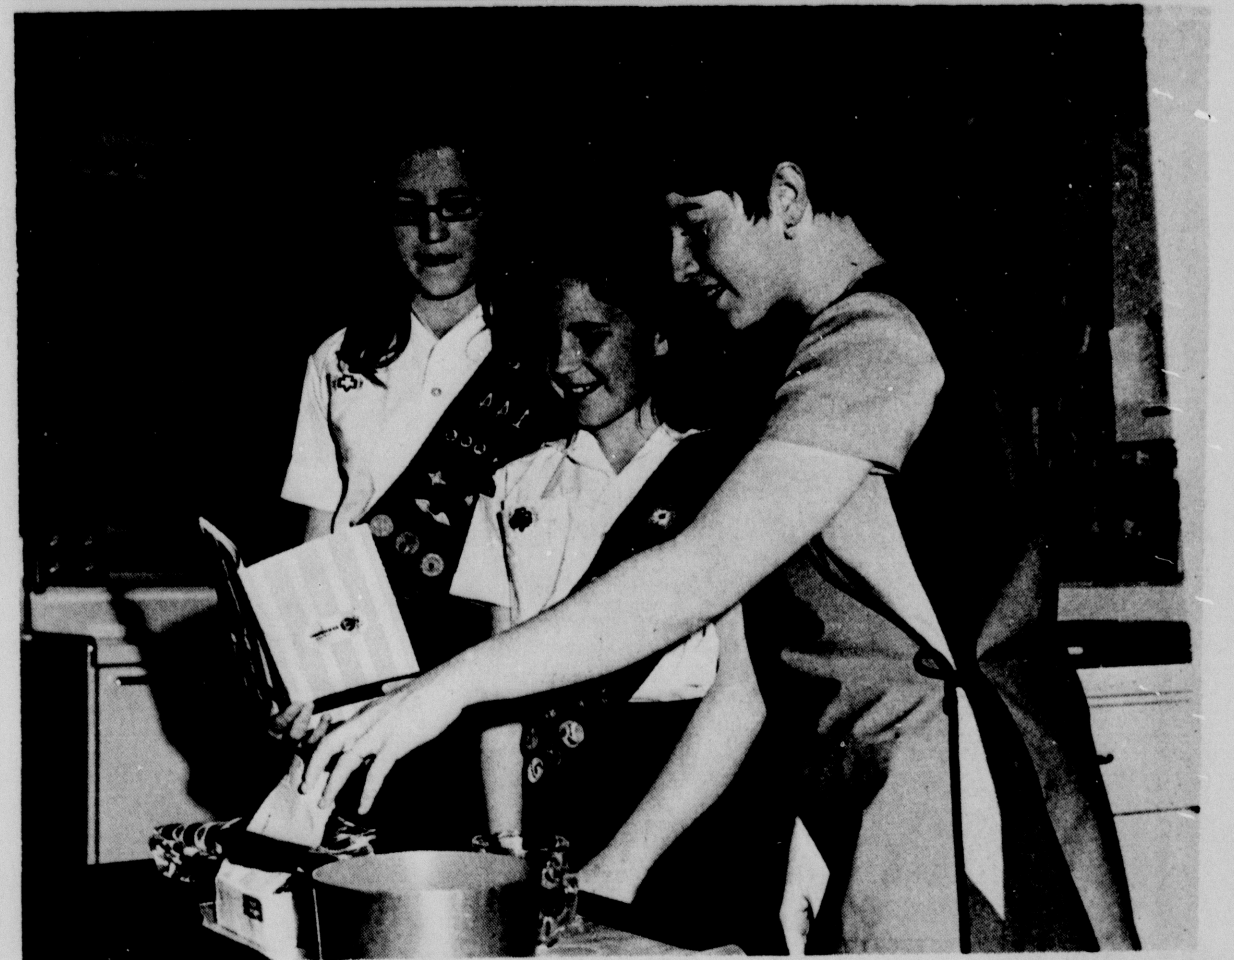

"There is beauty in my paintings for those who want to get it out," he said.

"Many people come back to see the pictures again and again. When someone stands for hours staring at a painting there is much personal satisfaction for the artist."

Luziano does not regret the years of working and saving to become an artist, or the tumultuous year in history that twice made him an exile.

"The bad times were an integrated part of life for me," he said. "I still have a fear that things will come too easy for me. It would bore me to death."

Luziano will exhibit about 21 pastel and 14 oil paintings at the museum. He will be honored at a reception Sunday afternoon.

Miss Cynthia Stevens, Home Service Advisor for Southwestern Public Service, gives instruction to Terri Reid and Clyde Olson, members of Girl Scout Troop 144. The troop is in the

STORE HOURS
8:30 AM TO 5:30 PM

Mrs. Glenna Wilson, Canyon artist-writer, displays some of her art work including her Christmas cards, packaged notes, knothole and cedar shingle art. Mrs. Wilson is also the illustrator of "The Randall County Story." Some of her works will be for sale at the "Starving Artists Show" in Western Plaza on November 21 and 22.

Painting, From Notes to Knotholes

BY CAROL CRAIN

Notes, knotholes, shingles, or canvases...all become a work of art when painted upon by Canyon artist, Mrs. Glenna Wilson.

One of the newest products of artistry are her paintings on weathered cedar shingles. The uneven end of a shingle can become a group of trees, a cathedral, or other uniquely painted objects. "I just see things in wood...an old building...a mission...or trees," she said.

The knothole paintings are first sketched on a board that has one or more knotholes and sometimes even a flaw. Vegetables, flowers or fruit work especially well in this type of painting.

The ruby red beet takes on a deep richness when designed around a dark knothole. The inside of a cantaloupe or half of an avocado with the seed still inside can take on new depth when painted in the "knothole art."

Mrs. Wilson has also designed a Christmas card that is in its third printing. It will be sold again this year.

The card depicts the Light-house in Palo Duro Canyon with the message "Season's Greetings" on the front. On the inside is a verse written by Mrs. Wilson.

Two years ago the cards were only sent to Mrs. Wilson's personal friends; last year they were sold to area residents on request.

The cards will be ready to sell next week. Packages of ten with envelopes will sell for $1.50 and may be purchased from the artist at her home, 2600 5th Ave.

The Christmas cards, as well as some of Mrs. Wilson's other art work, will be sold at the Starving Artist Show in Western Plaza November 21 and 22.

Note cards of the Light-house and some of the T-Anchor Ranch will be available at the show, as well as some of her miniature oils, shingles, and knothole art work. Art at the show sells for a maximum of $10 or $15.

Mrs. Wilson, who works in several media, started painting "seriously" when she moved to Canyon eleven years ago.

"I have a very sports-minded family," she explained. "There was always something to attend...football...golf...basketball, but I've never been sorry I spent time on the bleachers yelling."

"All my life I have wanted to paint, but haven't had time, until recently," she went on, pointing out that much of her time was spent raising her family.

Mrs. Wilson's two sons have now presented her with three grandchildren. Brad and his wife, who live in California, have a daughter, Heather. Jim and his wife have two children, Bill and Gena.

Brad, who is a golf pro and is West Coast Editor of Par magazine, has also written articles for Sport and Golf Digest. He graduated from WTSU with a degree in physical education and journalism in 1961.

One of Mrs. Wilson's next projects is to illustrate a book, written by Brad, that is entitled "Sprinkles of Wisdom." The book is "about life, not golf," Mrs. Wilson explained.

Her other son, Jim, will graduate from WTSU with a degree in accounting in December.

"I like people, and there's always so many things to do," Mrs. Wilson went on, "and I just try to crowd it all in."

The $1 ticket reservations and sales may be made at Dan's 5th Ave. or by calling 655-3355. Ticket holders will also be eligible for a Needlework Kit doorprize.

Regals Have Baby Girl

Major and Mrs. John E. Regal of Quantico, Virginia announce the birth of a daughter, Wendy Rene on November 8.

The infant weighed 7 lbs. 4 oz. at birth and was 20 inches long.

The couple have one other daughter, Lynne, age 3.

Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Alexander of Fremont, N.H.

Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Wood, of the Palo Duro Club.

of the Writers Association of the Golden Spread (WAGS), the Panhandle Penwomen, and the Texas Fine Arts Society. She teaches the Deborah Class in Adult II in the First Baptist Church and is a member of the Women's Book Club.

Her short fiction work entitled "Three Years My Senior" won second place acclaim in a contest sponsored by the Panhandle Penwomen.

Her paintings have hung in the Best of the Southwest Art Show, the Best 40 Show, and sell to residents all over the Panhandle.

"Watercolor, oil, acrylics, and pen and ink are my main media," she said.

Mrs. Wilson has studied watercolor under Robert Hobbs and Dr. Emilio Caballero. She studied oil painting under the direction of Claudia Neeley and Dirk Van Driest, a Dutch artist.

"You've got to establish a name and a technique before you can expect to sell much," she stated.

Mrs. Wilson related that she walked up to one of her paintings in an early show and caught someone reading her name "Glenna Wilson?...Who's Glenna Wilson?"

Surely, that doesn't happen much any more to the Canyon artist who illustrates Grace Warwick's book "The Randall County Story." The account of this area was published on December 14, 1969.

"I still have the original drawings of that book," Mrs. Wilson stated. "I hope to have those matted one of these days."

When once asked, "Does Glenna Wilson live here," her grandson Bill replied, "Yes...but, I call her grandma."

Glenna Wilson, or "grandma," the talent is the same...unique and well done.

Sternenberg -Woodard Repeat Vows

Pamella Augusta Sternenberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William W. Sternenberg of Canyon, and Charles Edward Woodard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Woodard of Perryton, were married Friday in the First United Methodist Church of Canyon.

The Rev. Dwayne Dennis of the Church of Christ officiated the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. George Kates sang "The Twelfth of Never." She was accompanied by Mrs. Glenn Dowlen on the organ.

The altar was draped with azalea pink satin and five candelabras were placed at points at the front of the sanctuary. Urns of pink mums further enhanced the area.

Large bows with greenery lined the pews and decorated the bride's path to the altar.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length formal gown of bridal satin appliqued with lace and accented with seed pearls. The skirt formed a bustle in the back decorated with rosettes of self material and fell from the waistline to form a cathedral train. The gown was fashioned with a scooped neckline and long petal point sleeves.

The bride's veil was of three tiered imported illusion that fell from a double crown of lace and seed pearls to the fingertips.

She carried a bouquet of two white orchids surrounded by stephanotis and pink roses. White satin streamers tied in love knots fell from the bouquet.

Jan Sternenberg, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor, and Mendy Sternenberg, also sister of the bride, attended as bridesmaid.

Both wore identical formal gowns fashioned with empire waist and wrist length puffed sleeves of deep pink azalea. The headpieces were twin layers of tulle attached at the crown with a Dior bow. They carried a cascade of pink and deep pink carnations.

Mary John McNeill was flower girl and Walter McNeill was the ringbearer. Both are cousins of the bride.

Craig E. Lawrence was best man for the ceremony and Al Sternenberg, brother of the bride, served as groomsman.

Dave McNeill, Dudley McNeill, Jim McNeill, and Tim McNeill, all cousins of the bride from Happy, served as ushers.

A reception at the Church of Christ Bible Chair was held after the ceremony.

The bride's table was decorated with an azalea pink tablecloth with silk organza overlay. Crystal and silver appointments enhanced the table.

The groom's table held a chocolate cake and silver coffee service.

After November 10 the couple will be at home at 207 15th Street in Canyon.

The bride is a graduate of Canyon High School. She is currently enrolled at West Texas State University and is employed at De'on's.

The groom is a senior agriculture student at WTSU, a member of the senior livestock judging team and a member of the Block and Bride Club.

Kathy McCoy and Joy McCrea served as flower girls.

The ceremony, conducted in the home of the bride's parents, was performed by the minister of Foreman Christian College of Lahore. The ceremony was the first one the minister had ever performed in English.

The home was decorated with bouquets of jasmine and wild flowers in brass vases. Leis of jasmine and roses, a gift from a Pakistani gardener, also decorated the area.

The reception was held in the Lahore Intercontinental Hotel ballroom. Music was provided by the hotel band, Ivan and the Aces. The center table was covered with white satin, edged with colored lights. The colored lights are a Pakistani marriage custom.

Reception guests were served wedding cake by the Maitre d and fruit punch and cocktails.

told him.

He said it was then that Johnson pulled open the night stand drawer and reached for the gun.

"I thought he was going to shoot me," he said. "He had the gun in his hand. I pulled my gun out of my hip pocket and started shooting."

Wilkerson said he was wounded immediately and retreated to the bathroom and put his gun into a drawer. He related that Johnson followed him and kept firing.

Prompted by Defense Counsel Charles Fairweather, Wilkerson admitted that he had been convicted of burglary in 1965.

Under cross examination by District Attorney George Dowlen, Wilkerson told of having bought the .25 caliber automatic pistol at K-Mart a month before the shooting.

He also related that he picked up his wife at home court room, clerk's office and tax assessor-collector are located has a stand by compressor.

He said that if that wing of the court house has a stand by then it would be reasonable for the other wing also to have a stand by.

Butler said he didn't agree and based his opposition also on the fact that no bid was taken on the piece of equipment.

Commissioners canvassed the election noting that everyone in Precinct 1 voted while Precinct 3 cast 94 percent of its voting strength.

The court discussed buying certificates of deposit in smaller denominations than hitherto to enhance the county's investment picture. Certificates for $100,000 have been being purchased. The court wants to purchase $5,000 certificates.

Tax Assessor-Collector Audrey Bruse said her office received a state audit last week and everything there was in good shape.

The court decided to brick the front of the court house annex in South Amarillo and close up the windows. Cracks will be calked.

Four new part time employees and one full time employee were authorized for the tax office on a temporary basis. The court also authorized advertising for bids for some office equipment for the tax office and for a road grader for Commissioner of Precinct 3.

about 12:30 o'clock the morning of the shooting and fearing trouble took his gun along to go to the Johnsons' for a family talk.

He said he stopped off at a lounge for a beer and his wife drank a soft drink. He admitted to having fired the gun on Amarillo Blvd. and Old Tascosa Road and the gun having jammed both times.

He denied having told Johnson he was going to kill him and also denied having pointed the gun at Mrs. Johnson.

"I know going over there was wrong and I wish it hadn't happened," he had declared earlier under questioning by Fairweather.

Assistant District Attorney Richard Dambold scored the defense for not putting Mrs. Wilkerson on the witness stand.

"Under Texas law only the defense could put the wife on the witness stand and they chose not to do so, why?" asked Dambold.

Fairweather pleaded with the jury to take into consideration the state of mind of the defendant at the time of the shooting. He contended that Wilkerson was in no mental condition to think clearly at the time.

He asked for a verdict of assault with intent to murder without malice.

"He went in there with one thing in mind and that was to kill the Johnsons," asserted Dowlen.

The case went to the jury at 3:40 o'clock and the verdict was returned at 5:35. Punishment was left up to Judge Dean.

Magness said several people who ordinarily give to Scouting have not yet been contacted. He asked that anyone who has not been contacted call the Hosea Foster Agency.

"We will see that someone comes out and picks up their gift," Magness said.

He noted that the Alpha Phi Omega Fraternity at West Texas State University has agreed to pick up such contributions.

a 2800-foot paved runway lying 30 degrees and 210 degrees and a 4800-foot grass runway lying 17 and 35 degrees.

"We will crown, plant and pack the grass runway for the winter and asphalt it next year," Wardell said.

The airport has now installed a "Unicom" system for air-ground communication, on a frequency of 122.8. Runway lights are now being left on all night with 24 hour emergency service available on request. Current airport hours are from 8 a.m. until 9 p.m.

"I figure we will eventually go into a completely instrument controlled airstrip," Wardell said. "The school's all-time receivers with that total, replacing Roy Armentrout, who had 34.

Despite its losing record, Bowling Green has ranked among the nation's leaders this year in team defense. Prior to Saturday's 34-7 loss to Ohio University the Falcons had been averaging allowing only 232 yards per game by their foes. That average increased to 257.3 Saturday, but it should still rank the Falcons among the nation's top 20. They were 12th prior to Saturday.

The offense is led by quarterback Vern Wireman, who holds 12 school passing records. He has hit on 50 of 153 passes for 524 yards this fall. Tailbacks Julius Livas and Roger Murray have rushed for 238 and 226 yards respectively.

Receiver Bill Pittman leads the team in that department with 19 receptions for 213 yards. He also leads in kickoff returns with 21 for 514 yards and in punt returns with 18 for 178 yards.

Bowling Green and West Texas were both beaten by 20 points by Western Michigan. The Falcons fell, 23-3, to the Broncos earlier this year.

play a 4-3.

The Eagles may be without the services of Jerry Carlile Friday night at Muleshoe. He suffered a rib injury in the Perryton game and at mid-week Coach Dunny Goode still was waiting word on whether he can play against Muleshoe.

The Eagles lost Jeff Gunter in the Dumas game. Jeff is out for the season.

Van James is suffering from a leg bruise but this probably will not prevent him from seeing action Friday night.

Canyon has had a nip and tuck football season. They have played six games with a touchdown or less difference in the score this year.

The Eagles still have a chance in district if they can defeat the Mules and Tulia and Levelland could somehow win over Dumas.

This would throw the district in a three-way tie and would call for a flip. But Dumas has the edge with an unblemished conference record so far.

Cliff Prichard received two War Eagle awards for achievement in the Perryton game. War Eagles for offense also went to Mike Podzemny, Billy Byrd, Sam Kerbel, Larry Prichard, Chuck

Wright, Allen Bedell, Matt Hansen and Eddie McBride.

On defense Frankie Belcher and John Dodson each received three War Eagles and awards also went to John Lewis, Kelly Tinsley, Van James, James Boyce, Darrell Breitling and Jerry Carlile.
